Aboriginal Studies Press (ASP)

ASP is the publishing arm of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies (AIATSIS). AIATSIS is a statutory body whose functions are to promote Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander studies through research, publications, and establishing and maintaining cultural resource collections.

ASP aims to publish outstanding writing. We publish in selected genres that both reflect and promote a greater understanding of Australian Indigenous cultures and peoples, including Aboriginal Studies.

ASP has approximately 120 titles in print and produces up to eight new titles annually in a range of academic disciplines, as well as general-interest books like auto/biography and life stories, history and children's books. More than 60 titles have been licensed to e-publishers.

Indigenous academic authors are particularly encouraged to submit their work. While some books are authored by Indigenous and non-Indigenous writers working collaboratively, others are written by non-Indigenous people. The website provides detailed information for intending writers, including An Information Kit for Indigenous Authors and the ASP Publishing Style Guide for Authors and Editors. Alternatively, call ASP on +61 2 6246 1183 for a copy.

All published manuscripts are peer-reviewed and presented to a Publishing Advisory Committee (PAC) which makes recommendations to the AIATSIS Principal.

Visit Find a Book at www.aiatsis.gov.au/asp for information about our new titles and backlist.

Permissions

Visit For Authors/Permissions at www.aiatsis.gov.au/asp for clear advice about seeking permission to use copyright material including the Aboriginal Australia map. Includes downloadable forms.

Yuendumu Everyday

Contemporary life in remote Aboriginal Australia

Yasmine Musharbash

Gracefully and cogently, Yasmine Musharbash opens up the world of everyday life of Warlpiri people at Yuendumu, the pressures and satisfactions of a life dominated by the immediacy of others, and the extraordinary mobility of persons making their way through the physical and social spaces of their world.

Between Indigenous Australia and Europe

John Mawurndjul

Claus Volkenandt and Christian Kaukmann (eds)

This book makes a valuable contribution to Australian art on a number of fronts. The authors each bring their highly respected expertise to the book, which sets Mawurndjul's work, as well as the work of many others, in an international context. A very valuable resource.

Back on The Block

Bill Simon's Story

Bill Simon, Des Montgomerie and Jo Tuscano

This is a frank 'insider's' story of a stolen child who becomes an angry addicted young man and then through a life-changing conversion the compassionate pastor of his people on The Block, Redfern. Bill Simon tells his story with humanity and hope. It needs to be widely read by Australians as a window into the challenges faced by our indigenous men. I commend Bill for his courage and honesty.

Aboriginal Business

Alliances in a remote Aboriginal town

Kimberly Christen

July 2009, pb,
230x152mm, 304pp,
b/w illus
RRP $39.95
ISBN 978 085575 702 1

Aboriginal Business offers some new writing and perspectives on the emergence of Aboriginal organisations and the unfolding of this within national, regional and town contexts. It will make the book of interest not only to academic anthropologists but also to people in applied fields, political science, sociology, history and other disciplinary areas.

Francesca Merlan, Professor of Anthropology,

Rejecting Colonialism

Ongoing struggles in the Torres Strait

Elizabeth Osborne

August 2009, pb,
230x152mm, 256pp,
b/w illus
RRP $39.95
ISBN 978 085575 662 8

In Rejecting Colonialism, Osborne focuses on the Torres Strait Islander peoples' evolving struggles for recognition of their unique Indigenous island identities. She foregrounds the voices of the Torres Strait Islanders themselves as views were rarely sought nor recorded from the arrival of outside intervention in the 1840s up to the 1970s.

Murray River Country

An ecological dialogue with traditional owners

Jessica K Weir

Murray River Country discusses the water crisis from a unique perspective – the intimate stories of love and loss from the perspectives of Aboriginal people who know the inland rivers as their traditional country.

September 2009, pb,
240x170mm, 224 pp,
b/w illus
RRP $34.95
ISBN 978 0 85575 678 9

These experiences bring a fresh narrative to contemporary water debates about living in the Murray-Darling Basin, and how we should look to more sustainable ways to live in Australia as our approach to water is changing in the face of water scarcity, drought, climate change, and water mismanagement. This book brings new insights to these issues by focusing our attention on what Indigenous people from along the Murray are experiencing, saying, and doing.

Compromised Jurisprudence

Native title cases since Mabo

Lisa Strelein

October 2009, 2nd edition,
pb, 230x152mm, 288 pp
RRP $39.95
ISBN 978 0 85575 663 5

A significant deficiency in native title practice in Australia has been a failure by some of the participants to come to grips with the conceptual underpinnings of native title jurisprudence. Compromised Jurisprudence, by confronting, analysing and challenging those underpinnings, is an important work that can assist in overcoming that deficiency.

Ron Merkel, Federal Court of Australia

Strelein traces the development of the courts' thinking of native title from the original decision in Mabo v Queensland [No. 2] to the Ward and Yorta Yorta cases and the subsequent implementation of those High Court decisions by the Federal Court. The second edition covers broader Australian jurisdictions including native titles cases from other Commonwealth countries. Each chapter contains a discrete analysis of the most significant cases during this period. It concludes by identifying the underlying themes and contradictions in the law.

Australian Aboriginal Studies

The Australian Aboriginal Studies journal maintains its usual academic high standards and diversity, acting as a forum for dialogue about the key themes in the disciplines involved with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander research.

Thematic editions are comprehensive and diverse, while an emphasis on visual material separates AAS from other academic journals. Importantly, AAS is national and is networked to multiple universities and research centres. It includes practical research with policy relevance.

The Little Red Yellow Black Book: An introduction to Indigenous Australia

Bruce Pascoe with AIATSIS

There is so much to know and learn about Indigenous Australia. But for someone who wants to get to grips with the whole story, where do you start? Right here, with The Little Red Yellow Black Book.

Vibe Australia, November 2008

This new edition of the popular The Little Red Yellow Black Book: An introduction to Indigenous Australia provides an entry-point to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and history for everyone: adults who want to learn what they weren't taught at school, migrants, tourists, trainers, institutions, government departments and schools.

When used as a teaching resource, the book introduces almost all areas required for study in secondary Indigenous Studies curricula throughout Australia, as well as large parts of Australian History and SOSE curricula. The Little Red Yellow Black Book website provides further information about each theme, as well as free downloads of print and audiovisual materials and other links and resources.
